1895-96

Preface.

1895-96.

Directory Publishers, like all the rest of the world, are only influenced by selfish considerations. They do not select their field of operations at hap-hazard and trust blindly to kind Providence to see them successfully through their undertaking; nor do they allow any sentimental consideration to warp their judgment and draw them to barren fields.
 With their long years of experience in different cities and a variety of operations, they acquire the faculty of correctly estimating the present status and future prospects of a city and govern themselves accordingly.

The publishers of this volume recognize the fact that it does not mean simply the compiling and issuing of a book, but a farewell flight to other pastures, but it means the expenditure of thousands of dollars in time and labor and expense for all the years to come, as each successive volume is issued. This being the case, the question of choice of cities for the scene of their labors becomes an all-important one, as a mistake in estimating the prospects for the future growth of their chosen city would be costly indeed.

In issuing their first volume of what they expect to be a long series of valuable volumes, the publishers wish to say that every day of their stay has made them prouder of their connection with such a city, and they shall do all in their power to be of use in her future career. To this end they have used all the care that long years of experience could suggest to make the book complete and reliable, since no one better knows how worse than useless is an unreliable Directory.
 The idea that a single canvass of a city is all that is required, is far short of the truth. Every street and alley and house must be gone over and over again, to trace up and confirm every name, as well as to get changes and removals, either actual or in contemplation. The publishers are here to stay by the city, and fully understanding that their future success depends largely upon how accurate they get their books, therefore they have spared no time nor expense to make it as accurate and complete as possible.

An exhaustive canvass has been made of the cities of Champaign and Urbana and a careful census taken, and we find that Champaign on July 8, 1895, has a population of 9,273, while that of Urbana on July 15 was 5,369. These figures are from actual count and are reliable. With the already large manufacturing interests established in Champaign and Urbana, and the constant advent of new business enterprises, we bespeak for these two cities a healthy and prosperous growth, and believe that within the next few years they will double their present population.

In conclusion we desire to thank our many patrons for the very liberal support they have given us, and trust that the result of our efforts will meet with their approval and appreciation. Regardless of a restless and growing community, we have used every precaution to issue a valuable and complete work.

Very Respectfully,

HARDIE & SCHARLE.

DON'T LEND YOUR DIRECTORY!

An Appeal to Our Subscribers:

We would offer a suggestion to those who, from business necessities or actuated simply by a public spirit, have favored us with an order for our book.

Did you ever lend your umbrella? If so, did you ever get it back? If you got it back, didn't you have to go after it or hunt for it?

Now, if you never loaned your DIRECTORY, we recommend you never to try it, for you will suffer a worse fate than with your parachute.

Borrowers, generally, are chronically such. Their conscience is "seared as with a hot iron." Beyond the shadowy vision of its ultimate reappearance, you will never see it again. The man who borrows a Directory never buys one, never subscribes for it (or for anything else.) Ask him to do so, "he doesn't need it," "never has any use for it," "everybody knows him," "he knows more about the people in this city than you can tell him." Yet the virgin freshness of its leaves has hardly been sullied by human touch, before this individual wants to borrow your Directory. "He will bring it back right away."

THIS IS PROPHETIC!

Keep your Directory; it has cost you money; you can't buy another. It is out of print, for we publish only the number subscribed for.
